

DECLARATION OF VIC

LOCAL COMMITMENT TO RIO +20:

TOWARDS GOOD ENVIRONMENTAL GOVERNANCE AND GREEN ECONOMY

In its fifteen years of trajectory, the Network of Cities and Towns towards Sustainability has shown a firm conviction for the incorporation of principles of sustainable development at local government level.

Now, when two decades have passed since the Earth Summit of 1992, which inspired the creation of the Network and marked a turning point in the approach to fitting the environment into society, the United Nations has organized the Conference on Sustainable Development, usually known by Rio + 20 for the coming month of June.

The United Nations General Assembly also proclaimed 2012 as the International Year of Sustainable Energy for All, a valuable opportunity to deepen awareness of the importance of increasing access to sustainable energy, energy efficiency and renewable energy at local, regional, national and international levels.

The new planetary reflection occurs at a time of economic instability, a situation to which the principles of sustainability have much to contribute. Indeed, one of the basic objectives of the conference is to promote the green economy in the context of sustainable development: a declaration of principles which confirms that the work carried out so far by the Network of Cities and Towns has gone in the right direction.

Over the last fifteen years, the Network has become a huge place to share and work and very often pioneer in introducing action principles that emanate from the Earth Summit. Local governments have worked to implement policies and actions in their respective areas of sustainability, all of which result in a reduction of the ecological footprint, in the efficient use of resources and, therefore, in laying the foundations for more efficient municipal environmental management.

It is fair to recognize the role represented by local government, with the support of the Barcelona Provincial Council, in implementing the Local Agenda 21, and more recently in the design of energy efficiency and mitigation of climate change policies, under the Covenant of Mayors for Sustainable Local Energy.

Now, with the opportunity for discussion and reflection in the Rio conference and the new Network Strategic Plan 2011-2015 just adopted, bearing in mind the work in Catalonia launched last year aimed at preparing the country's active participation in the Conference, the Network has accepted the challenge to put forward new proposals for action, designed in sync with the above-described framework and criteria set by other institutions. For this reason the members of the Network of Cities and Towns towards Sustainability

HAVE AGREED TO:

PROMOTE local sustainability policies in the conviction of their suitability as a mainstay of local environmental governance, and because we understand that they constitute a strategy that fully agrees with the criteria of efficiency and saving of resources applicable to the current economic situation.

DEVELOP the maximum potential of the municipalities in all fields of the green economy related to sustainable development.

EXPLORE employment opportunities related to the field of environmental sustainability in all sectors, traditional and emerging industries: energy efficiency and renewable energy, local water cycle, waste treatment, noise management, environmental communication and responsible consumption.

ENCOURAGE coordination between local governments, national and supra administrations in the area of Catalonia, in order to create synergies that produce a net advance in sustainable development and ensure the efficiency of resources invested, financial, human and organizational.

PROMOTE cooperation with the business sector to generate opportunities for public-private collaboration in the field of sustainability.

ENSURE the contribution of local government to developing policies and actions for education and training at all levels of the public, to facilitate the full development of the sustainable and green economy, and support the impulse to actions of research and innovation in sustainability, in order to face future challenges.

ESTABLISH links with other networks towards sustainability for common projects and goals, and establish links with social institutions to promote awareness and communication strategies which achieve the involvement of the citizens in implementing local environmental policies.

SUPPORT national and international agreements with goals of sustainability and efficient use of resources, and in particular the Covenant of Mayors for Sustainable Local Energy, to promote renewable energy, energy efficiency and improving energy accounting.

PROMOTE networking at political and technical level, as a reflection and construction of action and, ultimately, as a municipal growth area.

Finally, WE DECIDED to present the Declaration of Vic in the respective local parliaments before 10 June, to give maximum support to local commitment to Rio +20, and to notify the agreements to the presidency of the Network.
